Why we BUILD
Homes,
Communities
and Hope

*Habitat for Humanity of Evansville
Annual Report FY2013
July 1, 2012 – June 30, 2013*

Habitat for Humanity served over 95,000 families worldwide this past year.

Since our ministry began in 1984, Habitat for Humanity of Evansville has served more than 418 families in Vanderburgh and Posey counties.

With an average family size of three, that's nearly 1,300 people whose living conditions have been improved through our mission of building homes, communities and hope.

Our Vision

A world where everyone has a decent place to live.

Our Mission

Seeking to put God's love into action, Habitat for Humanity brings people together to build homes, communities and hope.

Our Mission Principles

1. Demonstrate the love of Jesus Christ.
2. Focus on shelter.
3. Advocate for affordable housing.
4. Promote dignity and hope.
5. Support sustainable and transformational development.

Lives Transformed: That's Why We Build

One of our favorite scripture passages is 1 Peter 4:10: "As each has received a gift, use it to serve one another, as good stewards of God's varied grace." This verse reflects our dedication to the mission of Habitat and the many dedicated donors, volunteers and families who trust and support our continued efforts to build homes, communities and hope. This mission is a powerful one and we promote it with the utmost respect and dignity.

The power of this life-changing ministry is what continues to motivate our efforts. Poverty housing is still an issue in our local community. Habitat is a driving force which ensures everyone has the opportunity to have a decent place to live.

Times are tougher than ever and the need for Habitat is greater than ever. This past year, those closest to Habitat have lived 1 Peter 4:10 in spades! During challenging times, the Habitat family pulled together, used our various gifts to serve the mission, and worked to keep our house in order. The mercy and strength of Christ lives through the people that embody the mission and vision of Habitat.

Despite numerous challenges, Habitat maintains a relentless focus on its mission. The effects of the recession hit Habitat in 2011 and 2012. Major grant funding like Partners in Sustainable Building, Softwood Lumber, and HOP funding are diminishing or non-existent today. These funding streams and others provided about $20,000 to $25,000 per home. This funding helped supplement the support of house sponsors and individual donors and is no longer there.

In 2012 and 2013, you worked hard to help Habitat recover from this loss in funding. Individuals and local corporations stepped up in a big way and kept house building going. Habitat's Finance Committee increased its support to the staff management team to implement a rigorous Proceed to Build Policy and a new financial model to effectively adapt to changing times. Donors and volunteers have accepted the challenge to engage more people in Habitat! Thank you! We are making our way back to a better pace of building – a building pace we're used to. We are shooting for 22+ houses a year by Fiscal Year 2016. You can help us get there!

So, as we look ahead, what is our strategy? Our goal is to engage more people in the mission, increase fundraising efforts, and maintain a disciplined approach to long-term sustainability. It's that simple and we must do it so that we can ensure everyone has a decent place to live!

Passion for and focus on our mission built a great Habitat movement in Evansville. This same passion and focus will continue to sustain a great Habitat. Thank you for your commitment and loyalty to helping God's people in need find a decent place to live.

Together, we will continue to make a difference through prayers, gifts and volunteer efforts. This ministry is a team effort and we look forward to transforming even more lives in the coming years.

With humble appreciation for all you do,

What does it take to build a Habitat House?

How does it work?

- Individuals, churches, businesses and organizations provide volunteer labor and donations to construct homes.
- Homeowners invest 300 hours of their own labor into building their Habitat house and the houses of others.
- Habitat houses are sold to partner families at no profit and financed with zero-interest mortgages.
- The homeowners' monthly mortgage payments are used to create a sustainable organization.

How are families selected to purchase Habitat houses?

- Families in need of decent shelter apply to our local affiliate.
- The family selection committee chooses homeowners based on their level of need, their willingness to become partners in the program and their ability to repay a zero-interest mortgage.
- Every affiliate follows a nondiscriminatory policy of family selection.

Cost to Build a Habitat Home:

Volunteer Hours per Home:

Last year, volunteers gave 36,000 hours on the construction of Habitat houses. According to the Independent Sector's Value of Volunteer Time for Indiana, that equals $476,580 going directly back to our community.

Many thanks to the following sponsors who made the dream of homeownership come true for Habitat partner families. These homes were completed between July 1, 2012 and June 30, 2013.

Chapter 2:

Building Communities

Members of the Glenwood Community Development Initiative (GCDI) celebrate the results of the five-year neighborhood evaluation in early 2013.

Glennwood Community Development Initiative

In 2008, Habitat for Humanity of Evansville began to share an idea to bring many institutions together with neighborhood residents to develop a commonly shared vision and plan for neighborhood improvement. The idea was to improve the neighborhood where Habitat families would live because the stability of neighborhoods directly impacts our families.

This year, a five-year evaluation was released regarding the progress of work in the Glennwood neighborhood. The evaluation showed major improvement in three areas – Education, Health and Wellness and Housing.

This is what residents, as a whole, said regarding the progress of their neighborhood:

- Adults in the neighborhood use the school for their own educational needs.
- The streets and sidewalks are kept in good condition.
- Neighbors have pride in our neighborhood.
- Streets, sidewalks, and other public spaces are free of trash and litter.
- In general, homes in my neighborhood are kept in good condition.
- My home is in good condition.
- Housing in my neighborhood is affordable.
- The housing in my neighborhood is decent (i.e., fit for living).
- There are healthy foods available in or near my neighborhood.
- There are places in my neighborhood where I can exercise.

$1 Million Milestone

Habitat for Humanity of Evansville has always been built on the concept of partnership. However, after 29 years serving hard-working families in the community, some still view Habitat homes as “giveaways.” This year, Habitat staff and supporters were excited to dispel this myth through a milestone celebration.

In 2013, Habitat was pleased to celebrate $1 million in property taxes paid to the city thanks to dedicated Habitat homeowners.

This milestone is no small feat for any Habitat affiliate, and is a testament to the success of preparing homeowners for the reality that comes with paying a down payment, monthly mortgage, property taxes, and investing in home maintenance.

Since 1984, over 400 families have benefited from the simple, decent and affordable housing Habitat provides in the local community.

“Habitat homeowners are homebuyers just like every other homebuyer on the planet,” said Lori Reed, Executive Director of Habitat for Humanity of Evansville. “They are extra special because they have worked hard to get here through our homeownership program.”

The event was marked by a celebration on June 5 at 1748 S. Morton Avenue which is where Habitat has recently focused efforts in a block-by-block approach to housing.

The Impact of Homeownership

Nearly 20 years ago, Cynthia Bennett became a homeowner through Habitat for Humanity of Evansville thanks to the support of Lutherans for Habitat. She had two young children, Christopher and Christina, who are now both grown and thriving.

Christopher Bennett graduated from DePauw University in 2004 with a bachelor's degree in philosophy. He also holds a master's degree in criminal justice from Tiffin University. He presently works for CSX and lives in Avon, Indiana, with his wife and their two children.

Her daughter Christina graduated from the Indiana University School of Medicine in Indianapolis and is completing her residency in internal medicine at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

Both children say that the Habitat house – which their mother paid off in full in 2008 – came along at the right time in their lives because it gave them a room of their own and a safe place to live and complete their homework.

Christina Bennett, M.D.

While in medical school, Christina was one of 42 students (the only one selected from Indiana) to do research at the National Institute of Health in Washington, D. C.

The Impact is Real

Children in an owned home have a higher rate of high school graduation.

Owning a home improves test scores and reduces behavioral problems in children.

Children of homeowners are less likely to have substance abuse problems.

Supporting Global Housing Needs in Jordan

During this fiscal year, Habitat for Humanity of Evansville was able to give $30,547 in tithe contributions to families in both Jordan and Haiti.

Since 1985, we've been able to tithe $957,893 to support the global housing need.

Every time a house is built locally, a tithe contribution is sent to Haiti or Jordan as part of Habitat for Humanity of Evansville's global housing effort. Hagar and her family are just one example of the lives that have been changed due to Habitat supporters locally.

Hagar is a 32-year-old widow who takes care of her four children: Ayham (9), Faisal (6), Tamara (4), and Khazneh (2). They all live in the village of Ghor al Safi south of the Dead Sea in the Karak Governorate of Jordan.

Hagar's income is 200JD which is equivalent to $282 US dollars a month. A new home will give Hagar's family a sense of freedom, space and more independence. The house will be in the village overlooking the salt flats of the Dead Sea.

The home that has been built for the family is a typical cinder block house with a poured concrete floor measuring 55 square meters. There are two rooms, a bedroom, and other space for a kitchen, toilet, and shower. The monthly payment on this home will be equivalent to $113 U.S. dollars a month. The opportunity to become a homeowner in Jordan is something that Hagar has only been able to dream about until now.

A Lasting Gift

The Perigo-Prickett Society was founded in 2000 to recognize donors who have remembered Habitat for Humanity of Evansville in their estate plans or made a contribution to the Habitat for Humanity of Evansville Endowment Fund with the Vanderburgh Community Foundation. The Society was named after Jim Perigo and Jim Prickett. Perigo helped establish Habitat for Humanity of Evansville, and Prickett played a significant role in the founding of Habitat for Humanity International in Americus, Georgia in 1976. Charitable gifts are the key to sustainability for Habitat for Humanity of Evansville and estate planning is one of the many ways to improve lives of local families in our community.
